Subject: CDIO International Working Meeting Fall 2018

CDIO Co-directors

Aldert Kamp, Delft University of Technology

Helene Leong, Singapore Polytechnic

Each year the CDIO members have the opportunity to meet each other at the Regional Meeting, the CDIO International Conference and the CDIO Fall Meeting. They result in many fruitful interchanges among those in attendance, leading to inspiration and new innovations in higher engineering education.

Not only the education at the CDIO collaborators' institutes, also the framework and organisation of the CDIO Initiative need regular reflection, maintenance and adaptation to be future-ready and remain relevant. Together we are the architect of the future of the CDIO Initiative.

The CDIO Council has therefore decided to transform the conference-style CDIO Fall Meeting into a CDIO International Working Meeting. The usual tyranny of PowerPoint presentations will be replaced by small group conversations and working sessions where the participants will elaborate, write, plan and implement for the benefit of the community.

The specific subjects we will address are:

Development of online CDIO instruction material, together with a CDIO Introductory Workshop for online blended with face-to-face training	Actor: Daniel Spooner
Development of a CDIO Roadmap 2030	Actor: Aldert Kamp
Development of a Strategic Exchange Document for Student and Faculty exchange within the CDIO community	Actor: Matt Murphy
Review and update of Standards in the CDIO Syllabus + Exploration of CDIO Optional Standards	Actor: Johann Malmqvist

It's our great pleasure to invite you and/or colleagues to come to Delft, the Netherlands, 25-26 October 2018, and elaborate further on these subjects, upgrade existing or co-create new elements of the CDIO framework, together with fellow CDIO collaborators from all over the world.
